World Champs Come Home to Edmonton

WORLD CHAMPION Edmonton Mercurys returned to real hockey weather in old home town today. But, to a man, they were glad to be back in their native city.

Triumphant Mercs Get Royal Welcome

Edmonton Out In Force To Cheer Hockey Champs

The best hockey town in the world today roared a royal welcome home to the best amateur hockey team in the world.

Edmonton Mercurys rode in stately triumph through downtown city streets with the lusty acclaim of shouting thousands ringing in ear-drums. Mercurys knew they were home in the physical sense when their TCA airliner landed at Edmonton airport.

But they knew they were home in the hearts of their fellow-Edmontonians when they rode high atop a fleet of heavy trucks through swirling snowflakes down Jasper avenue.

The weatherman made it tough for the home-coming world hockey champs and their thousands of loyal admirers. A biting northwest wind cut to the marrow of the bone and drove the snow in stinging particles at paraders and spectators.

MANY AT AIRPORT
But even the weather couldn't put a real chill on Edmonton's welcome to her hockey heroes.

Approximately 500 were at the city airport to meet the plane with the Mercurys aboard.

At least 30,000 watched the parade through downtown streets.

Wives, mothers, sweethearts and other close relatives of the Mercurys team members milled about the administration building waiting room for half an hour before the plane landed from Calgary.

Also on hand to greet the heroes were Hon. A. J. Howie, minister of economic affairs, on behalf of the Alberta government, and Aldermen Fred Mitchell, William Hewerick, Richard Hanna, Sydney Bowcott, E. L. Clarke, Lawson and Ford.

MAYOR IN PARTY
Mayor Sidney Parsons and Ald. A. Blust travelled with the Mercurys from eastern Canada to Edmonton.

Mercurys looked fit and happy as they posed for pictures on the plane ramp.

COACH HAPPY
Coach Jimmy Graham was all smiles as he stepped to the ground at the airport.

"Am I ever glad to be back in Edmonton," he said. "See 'Hockey Champions'."

One of the surviving children, 14-year-old Paul, said "I heard my sister Ruth calling to the others to 'wake up, wake up,' but I guess they didn't make it."

Dead are Ruth, 16; David, 15; John, 13; Tim, 11; Earl, 10; and Edith, 8.

Hockey Champions Back From Europe

Canada, the best country in the world, was the first of the veteran hockey coach.

"European hockey is getting a big better. It's much better than when I played with the Europeans in 1912-13," said Graham.

He said the British Professional League is a "very good league," judged by Canadian standards.

LIKED SWEDEN BEST

Harrison Young, the big right-winger, took time out from tugging his girl friend long enough to say: "We liked Sweden the best of any country we visited. The Swedish people are more like us. They are more good to us."

Mrs. Darling, wife of Capt. Marsh Darling, was really excited.

"Haven't seen Marsh since Dec. 26, 1918 at 6:30 p.m. That's a mighty long time."

All wives and sweethearts of the team were sporting nice coronas when the plane landed, after from the Edmonton Flower Shop.

Open cars whisked players and their families away to the parade starting point at 109 street and Jasper avenue.

SPONSOR KEPT BUSY

Sponsor Jim Christiansen was so busy receiving congratulations from the crowd in sight at the airport he nearly missed his ride up town.

"It wonderful. Just wonderful. The boys did so well. He repeated over and over again."

Stormy weather delayed the arrival of the Mercers at the airport. The plane landed here at about 10:30 instead of 10 as was originally scheduled.

The parade didn't start to move from 109 street and Jasper avenue until 1:30.

In the meantime thousands of people lining Jasper avenue danced up and down to keep warm. Scores of youngsters dived through the crowd, shouting slogans with "Welcome, Edmonton Mercers" in their hearts.

LEADS PARADE

Leading the parade was the band of The Royal Edmonton Regiment, with Victoria, Eastwood, and Highland school cheering sections following.

Flags of all nations competing in the world's hockey championship added a splash of color behind the school groups.

Then came floats and units of the Canadian Army, Navy and Air Force, with cadets in each service swinging along in perfect step.

The Edmonton Schoolboys Band with a group of pretty majorettes came next.

FLYERS TAKE PART

Edmonton Flyers hockey team received a big hand as they passed aboard a big open truck.

EAC, Maple Leaf and other athletic clubs, the Community leagues.

Three Years For Death Of Dad's Fourth Wife

GRANDE PRAIRIE, April 6—Albert Moosoo, 30-year-old Indian, was sentenced yesterday to three years in Prince Albert penitentiary, for the murder of his 30-year-old step-mother, Mrs. Isabella Moosoo.

She was the fourth wife of his father, Abraham Moosoo, chief of the Crow Indians.

The son admitted having twice struck his stepmother Jan. 21 during an argument over one of his children.

The quarrel followed three hours of drinking a home-made mixture she had prepared at her home on Sturgeon Lake Indian Reserve. She had invited Albert and his wife over to try a "pail of brew."

Albert Moosoo said she may have struck her head in falling down after he hit her. She refused medical attention and died six days later.

carnival queen, Annette Patterson, more business house floats and a complete oil drill rig, followed. Edmonton Ski club was also represented.

Highlands Community league had a float bearing house banner, reading "Highlands Community League, the home of Doug Macaulay."

Macaulay is a star member of the Mercury.

Page The Cleaner had a beautiful float in the form of a boat. The New Bulletin Golden Glove float also attracted a lot of attention.

But the real cheer was reserved for the Mercers, who rode with families and friends high up on four large floats.

The crowd became more dense as the parade moved east and the cheering was deafening as the Mercers passed 101 street and Jasper avenue and down to 100 street, where the parade turned north to the Civic Recreation Centre.

In front of the Recreation Building, where the grand scale paraded in like shivering sardines. Economic Affairs Minister A. J. Macleod and Mayor Bill Dewar extended official glad-hands from the people of Alberta and Edmonton.

ALBERTAN PROUD

Mr. Hooke said "The people of Alberta are extremely proud of you," and the mob cheered their heroes.

Mayor Sid Parsons said the Mercers have done the finest job possible in getting Edmonton on the map everywhere they have been since they left on their tour.

An official parliamentary reception and dinner, with Governor General Alexander in attendance, will be held at the Hotel Macleod.

When the Mercers' plane was delayed, leaving only a short stop possible in Ottawa.

GET BIG HAND

You'll need an applause meter to tell whether Jim Christiansen or Jimmy Graham drew the biggest hand when they were introduced.

Sponsor Christiansen said he was "genuinely proud" of the team and wanted to thank Edmonton for its wonderful welcome.

Coach Graham drew a sympathetic cheer when his tongue failed him before the microphone, but he got out a "thanks for the parade" that prompted an even louder cheer.

When the team was introduced, a big hand was given by saying "thanks for the welcome" in Swedish.

Cherishing sections from Westgate, Victoria and St. Mary's Separate schools, clad in their colorful school sweaters and skirts, kept their moving along cheerfully with the Mercury yell.

GETTING BROWBEATEN into facing future are these Edmonton young lawyers. They are about to be married. And man in middle, wrestler Tex Wilkins, is pointing out that when that comes about you either wash the dishes "or else." Lawyers are Pat Blackstock, Joe Stratton, Sam Lieberman, Eldon Foote. Junior members of bar entertained them last night at Macdonald hotel.

MAYOR AND MISSUS IN JEEP IN BIG MERCURY PARADE

The thousands of Edmontonians who jammed Jasper avenue an hour before the parade, were certainly not disappointed. They not only saw the world champion hockey team, but also what civic officials term "the best parade ever staged in Edmonton."

Stores and firms on Jasper ave. have probably never been so neglected in this town's history as they were this morning. Not a window was without a flag in place, as the triumphant change rolled by.

Thirty uniformed policemen were on duty at blocked-off intersections to ensure clear passage for the parade. Slippery streets made work of parade floats more difficult.

Nobody was apt to fall from the heat, but to guard against accidents or overdue excitement, St. John Ambulance group had half a dozen members spotted along the route to give first aid.

Chamber of Commerce Wednesday voted unanimously to contribute $250 toward welcoming the world champion Mercers.

Pretty little Barbara Purin, 11, of Oliver school, added her own note of color to the big day with her hand-painted poster of "Humphrey" of comic-strip fame, congratulating the Mercers.

Queen of the Texas, Annette Patterson looked mightily cool amidst the swirling snowflakes on her truck-mounted throne. Prince Van Deelen looked rather fetching, too, on her float, which extolled the virtues which won her the bid to represent Edmonton in the Cowtown beauty contest.

Mercury Captain Marsh Darling and his wife held one of the longest kisses ever witnessed at the airport. Bulletin photographer Eric Bland had all the time in the world to set his camera for the family shot.

It's impossible for a Edmontonian to be so young he doesn't know about the Mercers. Louis Alexander, sports convener for the West End Businessmen's Association, found that out from the seven toddlers he brought down from the neighborhood. They weren't his own but that didn't stop Louis expressing a fatherly pride as their gasp-exclaiming cheers rang out. They gave the West End Businessmen's Association a big hand.

Schools were represented in many cars. Westgate and St. Mary's had their cheerleaders.

Flyers were on one float with Eddie Cuth, Doug Lane, Gordon Watt, trainer Doug Hardy, Steve Latoski and Dougie Anderson making merry for the crowd.

Mercers homecoming parade was a field day for the motorists.

Altogether 25 civic units of city police traffic division aided by Edmonton Motorcycle club "monitored" the parade.

Club Liquor Sale Called Policing Act

Stringent enforcement of liquor laws was promised in Alberta legislature yesterday by Premier E. C. Manning.

Mr. Manning, as the House gave final reading to Alberta Liquor Control Act amendments, stated that it is the intention of the government to "open up the liquor trade."

He tongue-lashed The Bulletin for its "unwisely false and distorted interpretation" of clauses of the amending bill permitting certain clubs to sell liquor to members and guests for consumption on the premises.

The suggestion that The Bulletin had "completely distorted" the intention of the bill by referring to these clubs as prospective "cock-tail clubs" came from Elmer E. Roper, CCF leader.

Mr. Manning said he "concurred fully" with Mr. Roper's suggestion. "The legislation," he said, "is no stretch of the imagination, but can be interpreted as providing for 'cock-tail clubs'."

Questioned by The Bulletin as to how the premises referred to in the amended act should be designated, Mr. Manning said a later he thought "clubs" would be a suitable description for them.

NO CAFE LIQUOR LEGISLATION

During the third reading debate on the amendments, Mr. Manning said clubs with proper facilities would be allowed to sell liquor as clubs now are allowed to sell beer.

The amendments specify that clubs seeking liquor licenses must have recreational facilities and provide regular dining room service.

The amendments, Mr. Manning said, would protect individuals from being obliged to patronize public places where liquor was sold, since the present legislation of the act to permit the sale of liquor in public eating places and restaurants.

It had been "just about impossible" to enforce liquor regulations, Mr. Manning said.

"It is no use shutting our eyes to the fact that at clubs where beer is served, members bring their own liquor and have it served illegally," the premier pointed out.

Now that the act was being amended, liquor control board of police and police officers would be in a position to "rigidly enforce" liquor laws.

Mr. Roper said he believed the sale of liquor as specified in the amended act would reduce the amount of liquor consumed.

During the debate R. E. Angley

(BC-Leduc) said he suggested that before the next session of the legislature the government should give consideration to selecting dining rooms where liquor could be served with meals.

"It is absolutely wrong to pass laws permitting the consumption of liquor where no food is served," he said.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney general said the liquor control board now has the power to authorize the serving of food in beer parlors. "This is being given consideration now," he said.

Mixed drinking entered the debate briefly, when A. J. E. Leduc, (CCF-Calgary) said a plebiscite on mixed drinking should be taken in Calgary and Edmonton during municipal elections.

Lumber Camps

Editor, Bulletin.—C. Mueller, in his editorial on page one, entitled, "Lumber Camps," stated that he has, "worked in various camps since 1914, and he has seen a lot of things."

"What is it truth?" asked Platte. And he had put that question on behalf of his civilization.

Scepticism had eaten away even the confidence of the conquerors of the world. He who was enthroned to say what was justice, could only ask "What is true?"

Even the practical had become impracticable. And standing between the pillars of his own judgment-seat, a Roman had watched the hands of the world.

There were, too, the priests of that pure and original truth that was behind all the mysticism and superstition of the world. It was the most important truth in the world. And even that could not save the world.

There were, for instance, the priests of a true nontheism and the soldiers of an international civilization.

But in this incident we see Rome falling down.

Some brigand or other was artificially turned into a picturesque and popular figure and run as a sideshow attraction against Christ—with life as the prize.

And the crowd, who yesterday had flocked at Jesus' feet to witness His miracles, cried, "Barabbas; give us Barabbas!"

The mob went along with the Sadducees and the Pharisees, the philosophers and the moralists. It went along with the Imperial magistrates and the sacred priests, the scribes and the lawyers, and the one universal human spirit might suffer a universal condemnation, that there might be one deep unanimitous cry of approval and harmony when Man was rejected of men.

There were solitudes beyond where none shall follow. There were secrets in the inmost and invariable part of that

ODDS & ENDS

Easter Bonnet Contest Presents Awful Hazard

I report with some pride, not unshared with perturbation, the results of the selection of the most lovely and the most novel bonnet worn by ladies attending the affair.

Now I don't know whether there are to be two awards, one for the most lovely and the other for the most novel, or whether the winning hat must be both lovely and novel; but I have been properly briefed.

But I'll tell you one thing, I may not be awfully hot on the lovely girls, but I sure am sharp on the novel ones.

When the novelties come on, I'll be right in there heaving.

No Fear

I should like all three readers of this column to note that I am not in the least bit afraid of my big grey eyes wide open.

I appreciate, none the less, the commendable dangers of the task and I have read enough whodunnos to realize that once I'm in the trap, I may be lying in some obscure gutter with a halpin between my ribs.

Now if I propose to devote a full day, before the event, to a careful disposition of my worldly effects, I would have you note that I neither hesitate nor flatter.

The really hazardous lies, as you will readily appreciate, not in saying that this hat is lovely or novel, but in implying that all the other hats are less lovely and less novel.

You have doubtless heard of a woman scandal. I believe the phrase is "she had no fury like a woman scorned."

I firmly believe that it is more perilous to scorn a woman's hat than to scorn the woman herself.

The hat is the most sensitive part of the feminine ensemble. It has even been mentioned in the compendium under their intelligence, their disposition and even their morals were attacked—and then rise in shrieking rage when someone happened to remark that their hair looked like a piece of worn God's lip.

Ave Caesar, to mortali saluta.

Hot Hats

In commenting this original idea of an Easter Bonnet 'Yes, I am well aware that the importance of seasonal festival falls far short of expressing the meaning of the event.

There are those, I know, who have even been tempted to banish each year when they come to the conclusion that the event which inaugurated the world's oldest festival symbol than a fragment of straw and a handful of velvet about the neck.

Indeed, I sometimes find it

Frank On Sex Then Forget It

Then Forget It

Is Discussion More Adult?

One of the best magazine articles I read in a long time appeared recently under the by-line of Robert Thomas Allen in the National Home Monthly. Title: "I'm Sick of Sex."

Mr. Allen says it's time we changed our non-pedantic attitude toward sex. He complains that sex has found its way into magazines, newspaper columns, documentary films, advertisements, doctored newsreels and television.

He can't get a word in edgewise about the things he occasionally wants to talk about (embarrassment, borrowing money and English verbs).

Mr. Allen, like your correspondent, presumably has a normal interest in the subject, thinks that sex is here to stay and doesn't object to being frank about it.

But he says, "We're not only looking at sex frankly, we're staring at it until we're cross-eyed." And again, "The whole spotlight we've turned on sex has probably illuminated a lot of dark corners, but do we have to leave it burning 24 hours a day? It seems to me there's still a place for the old rose-colored lampshade."

Scott Rises To Amend

To this I respond with a hearty "hear, hear." I would like to append some of my own thoughts on the subject.

I do so as the father of three daughters still well removed from the problem but bound to see it sooner or later. And, frankly, I don't want their education in sex to be anything but the kind of magazine feature currently all the rage or by the shiny pseudo-phallosophical approach that seems the vogue these days.

We started our eldest daughter out on the birds and the bee routine and put the Kinsey report on a shelf for the time being. It is going to stay there.

It was the Kinsey report—"Sexual Behavior in the Human Male"—that really launched and dignified this sex-for-the-masses movement. It was a masterpiece of months without a chapter from that time or an "expert" comment on it and already, while Kinsey is doing his research concerning the human female, his articles are being bled for the rights to the printable portions.

Now, as Bob Allen suggests, this might seem a good thing. God knows it's time we wiped out the ignorance and prudery about sex that has kept our children so fairly common functions and presented to them as facts as a step in the right direction.

Public Airing Revolts Him

I sometimes suspect there is an awful streak of neo-Victorian puritan in me (I still wince at a cuss word in a woman's speech). But I am a broad-minded, sometimes mildly revolting about it. I would like to see a public airing of this intelligence or frankness or sophistication or the object as it's ever been.

"To me it indicates a whole lot too much emphasis on that one aspect of sex, even if it is so very often, merely a pose. Again, Allen has summed up the attitude in a sentence: 'It is a far from a genuinely intelligent approach to the subject as it's ever been.'"

At the same time that women are insisting that sex is a normal part of life, they are writing, "he writes," they're getting more and more into the habit of taking their clothes off in public than ever before.

Like Allen, I'm inclined to think we can't go too far in the sex area as long as it is education and not merely amusement. I've argued many times in this column for a broadened approach to the subject in schools. But it's leaves it there and goes into the bedrooms of the neighbors' private life.

Allen says, "Let's forget it."

Vigilance Only Real Freedom Guarantee

The best review of the legal reasons for a Canadian Bill of Rights, to be found in an article published by the Canadian Bar Review in 1948.

In the discussion of the rights of citizens, it is made clear that while Magna Carta, the Habeas Corpus Act of 1779, and the Bill of Rights of 1860 are supposed to assure certain fundamental rights, this is something of a myth. Professor W. S. McKeen of Glasgow University has written a book on the rights of the citizen as freedom of speech, freedom of religion, due process of the law and equality before the law were not even dreamed of in the days of John. Certainly, no one would get very far in any court of law by reading out the terms of Magna Carta.

Fortunately, Canadian citizens do not have to depend upon Magna Carta for their rights. They could find themselves burned at the stake, or abused in every way without any defence.

It would appear that the Bill of Rights proposed by the government is a step in the right direction. It does mention freedom of speech, but only within parliament limits.

Habeas Corpus Falls Short

Habeas Corpus has certain uses, but they do not go as far as some believe.

What, then, is the freedom of a citizen? It is whatever the government of the day chooses to give him in a certain way and we have come to take certain things for granted. Yet it could be a jail offence to wear a white armband. It could be a jail offence to wear a political armband.

During the war we saw thousands of offences committed without an offence to buy gasoline, except according to regulations. It could be an offence to pay certain taxes, or to refuse to sell certain types of goods. The government in power can legally make any act an offence. Where there is no law, there is no offence.—Jeremiah 31:12.

Smiles

I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow.—Jeremiah 31:12.

World Government

Editor, Bulletin.—No truer words have been written than those propounded by Harold L. Weir: "World Government. Ideals and Methods." (New York: World, March 28th). Mr. Weir handled with fresh viewpoint a basic law of social dramatism: that you cannot solve a problem by enlarging it.

CONGRATULATIONS BOYS!

Mercurys — World Amateur Hockey Kings

Mercurys Paid Off After Four Seasons

When Mercurys downed Sweden 3-1 in London a couple of weeks back, thus completing a clean sweep of the world amateur hockey tournament, it marked a highly successful ending to what might be considered a four year building program.

JOE HANLEY: Hard-working manager of Mercurys throughout the 1946-47 season when they won the western Canada intermediate championship. Played big part in victorious sweep against Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia teams. Pressure of business prevented Hanley from making trip overseas.

To start the season of 1946-47 the nucleus of the current Mercury aggregation was gathered together. They played under the banner of New Method laundry that year.

KNOWN AS WATERLOOS

However, the next season, sponsor Jim Christiansen took over. The team was known as Waterloo 11 and met with considerable success right off, being a strong contender all the way, before finally bowing out to Wexham in the intermediate playoffs.

Came the 1948-49 season—last season that was—and the Mercurys, as they had become known, blossomed out as western Canada intermediate champs.

With Jim Graham at the controls, the Mercurys swept all before them, clinching a brilliant playoff run by knocking off Melville Millionaires, four games to one, in the winnow.

It was this convincing triumph in the western Canada intermediate final that earned Mercurys their overseas jaunt.

REMEMBER THE WOLVES?

With the disappointing showing of the 'Sulister' Sudbury Wolves in mind (they had lost to the Czechs in the 'world' tourney) Canadian Amateur Hockey officials decided to send a team over to represent Canada that had played together as a unit.

And Mercurys got the call.

Leo Lucchini, Hamie Young and Al Purvis were added as, for a variety of reasons, such as: George Stuart, Mike O'Neill, Harvey Dodds, Bill McQuay and Red Ryan, failed to make the trip overseas.

The rest is history.

Mercurys sailed for overseas late in January. While across the Atlantic they played 40 games, losing but four.

Barred from entering Czechoslovakia by the Communist controlled government of that country, Mercurys nevertheless hoped to 'catch up' with the Czechs at London, only to have them (the Czechs) back out of the tournament at the last moment.

And like the tour just completed by Mercurys, theirs was a triumph all the way.

Superiors had a lot of good hockey players on their roster. Graham, a hard-slugging centre-man, was the offensive sparkplug of the team. Bob Crossland, who played left wing on the same line as Graham, was close to as good a stickhandler as ever heard of on skates.

And right down the line—goalie Don Stuart, the Brown brothers—Joe and Buster—Kelly Walker—those 'Squips' were a power-packed gang.

One season Superiors advanced to the western Allan cup final. For a time they were tops in the province, being perennial senior champs for a number of years.

Mercs Just Breezed

Mercurys scored 42 goals against three for the opposition while marching through the final round robin in the London tournament.

It's probably significant that Britain and the United States, generally rated Mercurys' most serious opposition on the eve of the final, were blanked. Britain was beaten 3-0, the Americans suffered a 5-0 whitewashing.

Otherwise it was Canada 11, Switzerland 1; Canada 11, Norway 1; Canada 1, Sweden 1.

Here's how the six teams lined up at the conclusion of the round robin tournament:

	P	W	L	T	Pts
Canada	5	0	42	3	10
United States	5	4	1	20	9
Switzerland	5	3	2	31	8
Britain	5	2	3	34	6
Sweden	5	1	4	35	5
Norway	5	0	5	35	0

MARSH DARLING: Captain of team, rates as one of finest players ever turned out of local junior league. Played midget and juvenile hockey with Maple Leafs.

later switched to EAC in junior ranks. Had senior experience with Lethbridge and other clubs. Always got share of goals.

Merc Squad Won 33 of 40 Games

Mercurys played 40 games while dians still play the best brand of hockey. Most overused triumph turned in by the Edmonton aggregation was a 3-0 pasting of Belgium in the preliminary round of the world tournament in London.

This might have been even worse, except that the Mercurys finally got tired of pulling the puck in the net of the Belgians. Most decisive setback suffered by the Canadians came at the hands of Streatheam, of the Eng-Reo and Saskatoon Quaker, was a 1-0 circuit, cut being 5-1 in an exhibition game.

It wasn't until late in the game that Bill Dawe finally managed to beat Keith Woodall in the Streatheam net for the lone Mercury goal.

Curiously enough, Woodall played goal for Edmonton Flyers last season.

Many Tributes To World Champs

Government officials and leading sportsmen were to the forefront of those who have paid high tribute to Mercurys in the past couple of days.

Said Lt.-Gov. J. J. Bowlin:

"Edmonton should be very proud of the Mercurys."

"The Province of Alberta should be just as proud and the people of Canada should also feel that the Mercurys were their team as well."

"I have it on the very best authority that Mercurys were among the finest ambassadors this nation ever sent to Europe. They conducted themselves as good sports and real gentlemen."

"I am very proud of the Mercurys. I know all the people of Alberta feel the same as I."

PREMIER MANNING, TOO

Premier E. C. Manning voiced almost similar sentiments.

"On behalf of the government of Alberta and the people of the province I take pleasure in extending sincere congratulations to Edmonton Mercurys," Mr. Manning said.

"A. Christiansen, sponsor of the team, Jimmy Graham, the coach, and particularly the members of the team deserve the highest praise for their splendid efforts in bringing back to Canada the World's Amateur Hockey Championship."

"Mercurys' return home should be made a notable event in Edmonton athletic history."

Dr. W. G. Hardie, president, International Ice Hockey Federation said:

"The Mercurys have proved themselves to be the best club in four Britain and the Continent since the war... as one who saw them win the championship, I can state they overcame the opposition and showed a fast-paced, clean-pawing brand of hockey."

"As a citizen of Edmonton, I am proud of them. As president of the IIHF I congratulate them."

DEMONSTRATED HOCKEY AT BEST

Deputy mayor Ed Clarke, on behalf of the city, stated: "The homecoming of the Edmonton Mercurys should be made a truly memorable event in the annals of this city. In Europe, our boys demonstrated Canada's national sport at its best."

James Paul, managing director, Edmonton Exhibition Association Ltd., was another who paid tribute to the Mercurys.

"I am very pleased, on behalf of the Association, to join with the thousands of Edmontonians in welcoming the return of the Edmonton Mercurys, World's Amateur Hockey Champions."

"This is a great occasion," Frank Curtis, coach of the Edmonton Flyers said: "I would like to extend a warmest congratulations, on behalf of the Edmonton Flyers, to Edmonton Mercurys, the world's amateur hockey champions."

Newsome Scored 'Important' Goal

Mercurys' forward Ab Newsome, once with Flyers in the Western Canada League, still cherishes one memory of his days in that circuit. During the 1946-47 season, an

BERT TONSIL: One of the world's most experienced hockey players. Tonsil's varied knowledge of athletes' aches and pains has made him valuable member of Mercurys. Is a trainer for Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Has managed football and other teams in the past.

Canada's 12th Win

Mercurys' triumph was the 12th Canada has scored since the world tournament was started back in 1924. Only four times have representatives of another country managed to count a tourney triumph.

In 1923 United States finally broke up what had been a Canadian monopoly on the honors as a result of series triumphs in 1924, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1932.

Britain crashed through in 1928. The Czechs, who backed away from this year's tourney at the last minute, twice had been crowned champions. They first turned the trick in 1947, repeated against Sudbury Wolves last year.

Here's a list of the champions:

1924	Canada
1928	Canada
1930	Canada
1931	Canada
1932	Canada
1933	U.S.A.

Flyers edged Calgary 1-0 in Cowtown one night, Newsome counted the only goal.

What's more this has been the only 1-0 game in the history of the WCHL.

Whipping Swedes 3-1 in Final Game

MERCURYS saved their biggest win for the last. Pitted against strong Swedish team in wind-up of

London hockey tourney, the Edmonton squad turned in a sound 3-1 victory to gain the championship beyond doubt. At this stage the Swedish goalie, Arne Johnson, is hard-pressed to make save from Mercury's Leo Lucchini, seen going past net with stick upraised. Quartet of Swedish players converge on prone net-minder.

Mercs Mop Up Belgium and Norway

BUSY Norwegian netminder P. Dahl wards off second Mercury thrust, this time spearheaded by shifty Doug Macauley, just in front of him. Wild melee develops as Norwegian defenders strive to recapture rebound. Second Mercury in picture, off at left, is Bob Watt.

HE SHOOTS, he scores. Hassie Young (the guy really gets into these pictures, doesn't he?) scores for Mercury's against Belgium. Merc in background is Leo Lucchini. Canadians had field day in this one, thumping the hapless Belgians by 33-0.

Young in Limelight Against Swiss

MERCURY forward Hassie Young, left, looks in vain for a puck between legs after Swiss netminder had turned away his shot. Other Merks, Ab Newsome, at side of Swiss net, and Leo Lucchini, upper left, wait expectantly for possible pass. Canadians won this one, 11-1.

IN GAME against Norway, Merc's Leo Lucchini, left, and Hassie Young, centre foreground, worked in close only to have Norwegian goalie block Young's drive.

Norwegian defenceman, right, is off in hot pursuit of rebound, as Young swerves to start back toward own net.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself . . .

So, the Mercurys are home again. What a jaunt that must have been! London, Paris, Stockholm, Paris, Glasgow, Paris. Climb into a plane. "We're off to Sweden tonight. Where do we play next?"

Jimmy Graham must've got an extra bang out of the trip even supposing he did make it once before with the Superiors.

The old south side rink in the mid-1920's. Herman (Beef) Runga, George Dene, Jimmy Graham — "Mr. Beef" and Jimmy — "Dene" used to take hockey and money. Such teams as Varsity, La Verendrye and Gainers. The Kinney brothers — Wilf and Jimmy, Don Corrigan, Ken Juggan, Don McCauley, Leo Merz and Howard Singleton.

Going back must've been just about as pleasant an experience for Graham as the first time over. Of course this time he was a coach. With "Soops" he was the big scoring threat — a guy who could hit a knot-hole with a puck from 30 feet.

Those fine rinks in London — Earl Court, Wimbledon, Harringay. Real ice-palaces, they say. Such enthusiastic crowds. And on the ice, Edmonton Mercurys vs. Harringay — Killer Kilburn, Harry Allen, Ab Newsome, Jack Davies.

I'll bet Jim Kilburn had himself some fun — good fun, I mean — even if all you read about these times is how Mercurys were "such splendid ambassadors" and "so well behaved." You can't travel that far with 15 or 16 other fellows and not have a barrel of laughs. And that's fun, in my book.

(Opening night at the Varsity rink, December, 1927. Senior hockey league first game. The Mercurys, coached by Graham, in the next couple of seasons Graham's change name to Superiors. Graham, Bob Crossland and Art Dunningham. Later Graham, Crossland and Kelly Walker. Don Stuart in goal. Fair Fawcett, Joe Brown, "Butter" Brown and more. Big gears for the "Soops".)

"Sure, those Mercurys had their laughs. But they do seem to have been strictly business once the puck was dropped. Let's see now. They started with a 4-1 win over Falkirk Lions. That was the night Kilburn received a concussion. Right off trainer Bert Tonsi had to go to work.

Merz had it tougher against the English teams. But at that they gave a good account of themselves. Got it in the neck from Streatham, later played a 2-2 tie with the same team.

Seems to me they had it rough against Wembley first time they met them. But later they squared accounts with this gang, too.

Paris, of a Sunday night. The Merz back Harringay 5-0. Wilbur Delaney in great form in the nets. Delaney's like the little girl with the little curl. When he's good, he's pretty good.

December, 1931. Superiors head overseas. Don Stuart, the Browns, Bill Montgomery (a fine puck-carrier, with a great backhand shot), Griers, Bob MacMillan, Pat Foster, Johnny Lammie. "Soops" do it up right, compiling impressive record. Manager Joe Stuart, Bill O'Hara.

Merz had it easy on the continent. Leo Luchini got himself four goals one night in Bern. If I remember right the Canadians won two easy ones at the week-end. Pretty good around the cage, Luchini. And that's where they pay off.

Too bad the Czechs backed away from the world tournament at the last moment. Those who saw both Mercurys and Czechs in action say it wouldn't have been too close. Merz would have catered. Guess the Czechs knew it, too.

Once the tourney got underway, Mercurys did it up right. Imagine beating a team 33-0, like they did the Belgians. Probably set hockey back 20 years in Belgium, to say the least of what it did to Leopold's chances. Wonder what a guy sees in being a king, anyway?

So it's back home this day for the Mercurys. They did their job well. Hi ya "Killer".

February, 1932. Superiors return from overseas. Imperials 0, Superiors 4; Imperials 1, Superiors 3, at a homecoming game of power.

JIM WEAVER HEADS CRICKET LEAGUE

Jimmy Weaver was elected president of the Edmonton Cricket League last night at an annual meeting held in the Recreation building.

Elected into office along with Weaver were: vice-president, Ken Fraser; secretary, Pete Cullimore; and treasurer, John McLean.

Plans for the coming season include two exhibition matches with Ontario's Ridley College, which will be played here on June 30 and July 1.

The league will consist of the same four teams as last year — Harbourside, Stormont, E.O.A.F. and Edmonton. The usual two inter-city matches with Calgary will be staged again this season.

The Dominion Cup championship, held here last year, will be played in Winnipeg this season, commencing in early August.

LAST INDOOR season on golf for Mrs. Jack Russell, 10295-Jasper Avenue, was given by Alex Ohlby right, yesterday. They'll both be out on the fairways tomorrow as Good Friday plashers in the first rush of golfing activity on Edmonton's course.

IF IT DOESN'T SNOW

Easter Brings Golf Action

Several of Edmonton's far-flung fairways will get a working over tomorrow for the first time this season.

For unless weather conditions change drastically in the next 24 hours, the Highland and Municipal courses, at least, will be ready to receive the public.

The Highlands course is playable in all sectors according to club of Calgary, G. Lush, Henry Martell, Highland's professional and former Dominion amateur champion, is in Spokane at the village, but assistant pro, Harry Lush, will be on hand for Good Friday action.

Greenskeeper Percy Earle will be busier than a weaver in a hen house today as he attempts to erect a bridge across a sizable fish pond near the Municipal club house. But he was fairly certain last night that many would be open tomorrow at noon with some temporary areas in use.

"We've been swamped with calls about when the course will be ready," said Earle last night, "and we now in position to say that barring unforeseen circumstances, we will be open to the public tomorrow morning, the Easter weekend."

Country Club won't be available for at least a fortnight, but there may be some activity on Mayfair back nine tomorrow. Tommy Morrison advised the Bulletin last night that the first nine holes at Mayfair will be about for sometime time due to exceedingly wet ground.

Racing Season in Offing As Roe Visits Edmonton

Charlie Roe was a visitor in our town yesterday. And that could only mean one thing: It won't be long now until the racing season gets underway on the prairies.

"Just dropped in from Calgary," Mr. Roe explained, "I wanted to talk grandstands and racing with certain people."

What the genial operating manager of the Ft. James Sports Corporation meant was that he wanted to have a look at the new stand at the exhibition grounds as well as pay a visit to the hussies whose stock is stable at the grounds.

VERY OPTIMISTIC.
"I wasn't disappointed in the progress being made on the grandstand. I know you've had a tough winter. They must be ready, or nearly ready by the time the stand is needed," he said optimistically.

Following his inspection of the new stand, in the company of Jim Paul, manager of the Exhibition Association, Roe dropped in on Earl Robertson, "Chief" Jones, Joe Holders and more of the horsemen.

Jim Speers' right-hand man, Joe Henders, who has been away for a while, was also present. He arranged for certain U.S. owners to ship here for the prairie season.

"We have some useful stock coming," Mr. Roe said.

He also disclosed that Judge George Washington Schilling is set to return as presiding steward for his 26th successive year.

WONT 'FEUD.'
Starter Wilson Dunn will leave Vancouver for Calgary, about May 1. As is his custom in the spring, Dunn will hold morning 'schools' for the thoroughbreds.

Mr. Roe would not part of being involved in the contentious 'jockey club' killed in the New Year's day, as it happened.

"I've got friends on both sides," he said. "I'd just as soon stay out of it."

Roe planned to head back to Calgary today, on route home to Winnipeg.

While with the University of British Columbia last year, Reid was named a member of the Canadian Legion.

Reporters Who Keep Things Under Their Hats Let Loose for Easter

IF I GET a scoop over Easter it'll be a big feather in my hat, says Police Reporter Barney McKelney.

I'M NOT pensive, I'm worried . . . will that guy drop my camera, pondered Photographer Eric Bender.

SO MANY council meetings must have given me spools before my eyes, commented Civic Block Reporter Art (Fish Net) Etter.

IF SAYS Reporter Brad Delany, I could wiggle my Adam's apple I could play tunes like a harp.

MAN WITH head start on flowers that bloom in spring for Easter parade was Reporter Stanley Burke.

JUST KEEPING his chin up to face the mischievous Easter hat bill was Columnist Jack DeLong.

Heap Big Contest

A thousand letters in one mail. It sure enough to make one pile. But there's no use to fret and frown When I'm writing On The Town.

There's just one thing worse than getting no mail. That's getting 1,200 letters in one day. And that's what happened to me yesterday. The post office should pay me a bonus.

If everybody goes to see On The Town who entered my little contest, manager Walter Wilson of the Capital should have a record week.

The mis-spelled word in Tuesday's column was Capital, which was deliberately spelled as Capital.

It was too easy. There were hundreds of correct answers. I waited until all the mail was in for the day. Then the first six letters drawn from the whole pile, with correct answers, were the winners. The passes were mailed last night.

Here are the winners:

D. Buchanan, 155 Assiniboia Hall.

J. Paul Roelke, 10029 117 street.

Richard F. Woylakis, Post Office staff, Edmonton.

Miss Marjorie Butters, 10410 125 street

Mr. Steve Holt, 9351 104 avenue.

A. E. Milland, 11849 65 street.

Here's today's question: What Edmonton mayor had an airport named after him, although the name is seldom used today? This is the last of the series. Full list of winners for today and yesterday will appear in Saturday's paper.

Heap Big Smoke

If you lived in the Union of South Africa you could smoke a couple of cigarettes in a day and still be a heavy smoker.

That's because they make cigarettes five inches long in South Africa.

I know this because I smoked one yesterday.

It was given me by Hon. Adrian Roberts, South African High Commissioner to Canada. In case you're interested they're called Rand Club cigarettes.

It's a sure bet you'll light up half way down the cigarette the first time you try. That's what I did.

Bumped into one of Edmonton's grand old ex-cops yesterday. I mean Tom Adams.

Everybody knew Tom Adams before we got those fancy traffic signals. He was pointy cop at 101 and Jasper for years and years.

One of the few times Tom attempted an arrest (everyone loved him), he was shot in the stomach by a thug who was robbing a Jasper Avenue clothing store.

For weeks and weeks Tom was in the valley of the shadow, but he refused to be counted out. That was way back in 1927. Man who shot him received a 30-year term.

Tom retired from the force a few years back. Today he looks hale and hearty at 76.

Tom sure deserves to live a long time.

A grateful goodnight to all and especially to the man who won't let postmen deliver mail at night.

Cabby's Hope Lies in Tips Says Lawson

Aid. Ken Lawson has a key to the taxi driver's financial salvation. When city finance committee last night finished dealing with cab operators' demand for a fare hike, Aid. Lawson suggested they start a courtesy school for their drivers.

"They would make a lot more money if they were courteous and considerate to patrons," Lawson said. "If they were courteous, they could charge what I did in salary," he said. "After all, we just couldn't make a go of it on $12.50 a week."

New School For Skaters

There will be a summer school for Edmonton skaters.

The school will be held at the Gardens from July 10 to July 15 and again from July 24 to Sept. 2.

Peggy Currie will be professional in charge and school will be under management of Frank Currie.

The school will be open to skaters from outside points and the Glensora Skating and Tennis club anticipates a large attendance of its own members.

The Glensora club has just completed a successful season, Ken Park, chairman of the figure skating committee, reported, and much credit was due to instructor Mrs. Peggy Currie and Mrs. Buntley Soley. Tests were taken by 21 skaters.

The club's dance tests were held at the Gardens on Sunday and the following were successful: Miss Patricia Kennedy, preliminary test; Miss Margery Cowan, swing test; Gordon Linney, Fay Inglin, Katherine MacIver, Barbara Park, bronze dance; Barbara Beddome, Gwynne Smith, Sophie Kennedy, four-steps and frolics; Jeanne Gomball and Eileen Bentley, first class.

The auction will continue each day from 9 p.m. until sign-off time Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Proceeds of the venture will go first-toward completing the accounting on the lodge at Camp Kew-Way-Din, the YMCA boys' camp, which the Ya Men club sponsors at Lake Wapamun.

Other club projects which will benefit from the auction include sponsoring the Tottery and other basketball teams within the YMCA and assistance with boys and young people's work generally in the Y.

City Defers Hospital Plan Action This Year

Chamber of Commerce has been assured Edmonton will not act in 1950 on provincial government proposals for $1 day hospitalization.

The chamber's community affairs committee has been conferring with the city commissioners on the measure.

In a report to the chamber council, Wednesday, the committee said no provision has been made this year for such expenditure.

OPPOSE EMPIRE GAMES. The committee presented an estimate of the extra cost for rate payer hospital beds under the scheme as amounting to $212,794 equivalent to a 2.34 cent a rate.

The chamber went on record last as opposing any suggestion that Edmonton apply for the 1954 Empire Games. Cost of the games—$400,000—was cited as a factor.

"We must have a sense of proportion about these things," urged a spokesman.

The chamber's community affairs committee wants the city to continue its "flexible paving" scheme under which 30 city blocks were surfaced with black top instead of concrete in 1949.

More Citizens

MONTREAL, April 6.—(CP)—About 400 displaced persons from Europe arrived today in Montreal en route to different points in Canada and the United States. ## Council Asks Operators To Submit Taxi Losses

Financial Reports Sought In Request For Fare Boost

Taxi operators have struck a snag in their demand for a fare boost.

They must submit to city commissioners certified financial reports proving their alleged losses before council will consider the matter further.

Last night's finance committee meeting listened sympathetically to the operators' plea for boosting the basic rate from 50 cents to two miles to 50 cents for a mile and a third.

MAXIMUM INCREASE 30%. Association representative Claude Forsyth outlined the increases in costs of operation, emphasizing that "you can't name any other service which hasn't had an advance in rates for 12 years."

Wages, which comprise more than half the companies' gross revenue, have risen more than 250 per cent since 1937, he said.

Smaller companies need the boost to meet stiffer competition, but "the big companies aren't very much interested in it," Mr. Forsyth said.

Several aldermen agreed there is a good case for the fare boost, which Mr. Forsyth pointed out would add only a maximum of 20 cents to any trip fare, regardless of amount.

INFORMATION INADEQUATE. "But until we have definite proof that the operators' volume has fallen off as badly in the past few months as the operators allege, we shouldn't be giving any fare boost," said Ald. William Hawari.

ETH had to submit its profit and loss figures to public inspection before last year's fare boost was allowed, he said.

"For the protection of the people we represent, we should have the facts. Tonight's submission is not adequate," said Ald. Hawari.

Committee members agreed in his motion to lay the matter over until the operators submit to commissioners a certified, representative report of operations of a small, medium and large-scale operator.

City To Help Health Work

A new kind of $200 investment for the city was approved last night.

Finance Committee, faced with a suggestion that the city make a grant to the Health League of Canada, valued in Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health, for his advice.

He outlined the league's work, its publicity material, which he said is of great value, its national promotion of health work, and its promotion of immunization work, which results in a grant to our clinic being absolutely swamped.

He said that "our own would return to the city many times over."

So aldermen agreed to invest $200.

THE DOUBLE-CROSS—Swinging the legs in this manner will help rid you of pounds of fat at the sides of your hips.

WHY GROW OLD

Exercises for Fat Pads On Side of Upper Hips

By Josephine Lowman

Many women are harassed by a little pad of fat on each side of the upper hips, just below the waist. When my pupils wish to know which exercises to do for that particular spot, I give them these:

1. Lie on the floor on your back, with your arms extended straight out from your sides. Bend both knees up (feet off the floor), knees close to your stomach. Hold the legs in this position as you roll from side to side. You can tell by the way it feels whether your roll is going right across the little pads. Adjust your legs so that this happens.

2. Do the Double Cross. Lie on your back with your arms straight out, legs straight. Cross your left leg over your right and touch the floor with your foot on the opposite side of your body. Swing the leg as far toward the right hand as possible. Return to the starting position. Repeat this exercise for the right leg over the left and touch the floor on the opposite side of the body.

3. Stand with your feet apart and your arms raised sideways, shoulder height. Raise your right arm up close to your ear and hold it there while you bend to the left, trying to touch your left hand to your right foot. Repeat this exercise for the left arm up to your left ear and hold it there.

If your problem is a protruding fat abdomen, and you would like to lose it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my tested leaflet No. 2 "Abdominal Exercises." Address: Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Successful Stepmother Is Rewarded for Her Efforts

DEAR MISS DIX: More than a dozen years ago I gave up an excellent position to invest two college degrees and the savings of a few years in life with a man who had small children.

I know what it means to put up with old furniture and to wear old clothes because the money had to be spent for small boys' shoes, countless quarts of milk, doctors' bills, etc. I know what it means to pass sleepless nights attending sick beds, what it means to be driven mad by frantic children and a thoughtless mother-in-law.

But we'll try to play the game, and now when they call me the best mother in the world and when I see them grown into fine men and women I am rewarded. There can be such a joy in the stepmother's lot if one is "by willing to be patient and to pay the price."

AMSTERDAM. A STEPMOTHER, who, however she felt, was the best mother in the world and when I see them grown into fine men and women I am rewarded. There can be such a joy in the stepmother's lot if one is "by willing to be patient and to pay the price."

Aussie Women Now Preparing Fall Wardrobe

SYDNEY, Australia. — (CP) — While women in the northern hemisphere shop for new spring frocks, Australians are preparing their fall and winter wardrobes.

Most popular are the Australian-made knitted woolen suits and dresses in pastel shades. Following overseas styles of a moulded silhouette, unapad shoulders and natural waistline, the dresses are in such color shades as a golden "beach sand" and a soft "pine cone brown."

To promote Australian wools, a series of murals was designed depicting the four seasons in wool. The murals were 50 feet across and five feet high.

They would show their own or make the excuses for them that they thought they would save in dollars for their own.

They are not willing to give the stepmother the same forbearance.

Marjorie Louise King Weds Alfred Norman Jackson Here

In an evening ceremony performed recently at Norwood United Church, Marjorie Louise King became the bride of Alfred Norman Jackson.

Her, W. T. Young read the marriage lines for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. King of Edmonton, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson of New Westminster.

The bride was escorted by her father to an altar decked with bouquets of spring flowers and potted hyacinths.

GOWN OF NET, SILK

Snowy white net over silk fashioned the bride's gown, which was made with puffed sleeves, neckline and full skirt. Heart-shaped headpiece held her floor-length veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridegroom's gift of three strands of pearls was her only ornament.

Attending her 'kiter' as bridesmaid, Miss Doreen King was dressed in blue tulle, with a lacey net 'wings' and scalloped neckline.

Floral coronet held her chapel veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Best man was John King, brother of the bride and the guests were ushered by Roy Miller and Nick Kruok.

Receiving later at the Maple Leaf Inn, the bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with yellow eyelid collar and cuffs. Her navy hat was trimmed with yellow flowers and red roses comprised her corsage.

MOTHERS RECEIVE

The bridegroom's mother, who also received, chose a black dress with cerise trim, black hat and red carnation corsage.

The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake, flanked by floral and bouquets of tulips and daffodils.

Toasts were proposed by Roy Miller and R. Small.

Kitchen Efficiency Is Sought by Experts Now

Business-Like Storage Plan Result Of Survey by Research Workers

Efficiency experts have turned their attention to the kitchen cupboard now.

And the result is a kitchen storage plan as business-like as the filing system in a big office. But it's not as complicated.

In devising the plan, researchers studied how and where women store food and utensils in the kitchen. And the investigators discovered the biggest mistake women make is using shelves which are too high or too low.

Storing food on the pots and pans you use every day on out-of-reach shelves isn't very practical. All that stretching and stooping is an exhausting business, and there's a simple way to avoid it here, too.

SWINGING ARC

Stand in front of your cupboard and swing your arm in a free and easy circle from your shoulder. The high point—just the top of the imaginary circle—marks the highest shelf you can easily reach. The circle's low spot marks the lowest shelf you can reach without excessive stooping and bending.

Those out-of-reach shelves—above or below easy reach—are the ones where you should be storing utensils and other equipment which you use only once in a while.

The remaining shelves—those within easy reach—are the ones you should use for the things you use every day.

And to decide upon what should be where on these middle shelves, the experts suggest you mentally divide the cupboards into four areas—or work centres, as they are called.

WORK CENTRES

The cupboards closest to your sink become—for purpose of good kitchen organization—known as the sink centre. Next to it is the mix centre—these cupboards closest to the sink or counter-top where you do the mixing and the other detailed preparation which goes into getting a meal.

Then, the cupboard closest to the stove becomes the stove — or cooking—centre. And finally, there is what the Cornell experts have called the service centre—a cupboard where you store those ready-to-serve foods which need no preparation whatsoever.

Getting Rid of Worms Is Difficult Procedure

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It would be nice to be able to tell mothers exactly what causes worms in children for then there would be some way of preventing these unpleasant parasites.

But one can only guess that. A child has put into his mouth some object on which there is live worm eggs and that these are laid in the intestines. It is known, though, that individuals who harbor these parasites can pass them on to other persons on unclean hands or on food. The imagination recoils at the thought of this contamination of food, but it does happen.

Children who have worms are said to reanimate themselves by pulling fingers in their mouths. The pin worms which are the most common type of parasites, lay their eggs outside the body at night and children may scratch the anus and then carry the eggs to their mouths.

When mothers ask me, as so many do, how I suggest they get rid of them I have one stock answer: Ask the doctor. Different types of worms demand different medicines to kill them. In the case of pin worms both internal medicines and medicinal enemas are used in order to kill the worms in both the large and small intestines. From what I have been told I know that it is a discouraging task to get rid of pin worms. The treatment has to be repeated periodically until there is no further sign of the worms.

Sometimes the only sign there is of the presence of worms is the itching about the anus mentioned before. The idea that children with worms can't or won't eat, or pick their noses, etc., has been defined. Often there are no signs at all; or the one sure sign is to see the worms in the stool.

The only excuse for giving worm medicines or using home remedies for them would be to find them in the stool. Many children are treated to packages of vermifuge on the off chance that they have worms. If the medicines are effective they are drug which only a doctor should advise and if they are not effective they are only as good as a placebo.

Our leaflet No. 65 "Toilet Training" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

German Singer To Make Tour

LONDON — (CP) — Blue-eyed blonde Lale Anderson, who became identified with the most famous song of the war—"Lili Marlene"—is to make a singing tour of Britain. She will appear in Manchester, Leicester, Birmingham, Coventry, Chatham and other parts of the country.

Born in Bremen, Germany, Lale first sang "Lili Marlene" in a Hamburg cafe in 1938. At that time the song attracted no special attention. Later she recorded the song and one day early in war it was broadcast by a German disc jockey by mistake. Next morning thousands of inquiries about the song poured in from German troops.

It quickly became the theme song of the Nazi armies. Phoney pin-up pictures of the mythical "Lili Marlene" were sent out by the thousands to German troops. When the British drove the Nazis back in North Africa they captured a German broadcasting station and there found a phonograph record of "Lili Marlene."

They promptly made it their own marching song. German propaganda minister Goebbels sent for Lale Anderson and told her she must broadcast personally from Berlin and to sing "Lili Marlene" to the British.

She was sent to the island of Langeland in the Friesian Sea. She sang "Lili Marlene" to the British and to the German troops. She was captured by the British and sent to a camp. She was released and returned to Germany. She was captured again and sent to a camp. She was released and returned to Germany. She was captured again and sent to a camp. She was released and returned to Germany.

British Women Engineers Win Top Industrial Jobs
LONDON — (CP) — "The sky's the limit for career women in aviation" seems to be the consensus of women in the industry.

At a meeting of the Women's Engineering Society, London, seven women who have competed successfully with men in "almost exclusive male territory" gave their opinions on their job.

"We want to tell young women there is a big career waiting for them in aviation," said Miss J. J. Ferguson, of the ministry of supply, aircraft division.

Mrs. Beatrice Naylor, principal in the fundamental mental well-being, said: "I have found very little prejudice against women in aviation. I was determined to be an engineer when I started piloting my biplane in 1925 as a child. I have never regretted it."

A young engineering student, who was the first woman to be awarded the Women's Legion award, said: "I have found very little prejudice against women in aviation. I was determined to be an engineer when I started piloting my biplane in 1925 as a child. I have never regretted it."

A FEW WORK HARD
A qualified ground and flight engineer, Miss Pat Parker, said: "I know then that teaching was my job."

Kitchen Slide Rule Reveals Hard Work

TORONTO — (CP) — Taking the drudgery out of housework is one of the important roles of the modern professional engineer.

In a recent study, the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers turned its slide-rule assistants to kitchen problems and came up with some startling results.

For instance, the cost of refrigeration, per cubic foot, has been cut in half since 1920 by engineering developments in assembly-line techniques.

The association also computed the iron work done by the housewife with old-fashioned flat irons weighing six pounds on the average. For a family of three, ironing the week's wash required 3,000 strokes of the iron over 500 square feet of cloth, or moving the equivalent of nine tons.

That job, though still not the most pleasant in the world, is now half as difficult with lighter ironing. Professional engineers even say they hope eventually to develop completely automatic irons.

Present projects of some engineers include a more efficient and less intensive dish-washing and garbage disposal units. They have discovered that the average housewife wastes 10,000 dishes in the first year of her married life. By her golden anniversary she would have wasted about 1,500,000 dishes.

Femininity Is No Drawback In This Job

MONTREAL — (CP) — A young Chinese woman is finding that being a woman doesn't seem much of a bar to a successful career selling insurance.

Ellen Hui is attractive and young, she's in her mid-20s. Interviewed at the annual sales meeting of her insurance company, she had a word to say about woman's place in the insurance business.

"Femininity," said Miss Hui, "certainly doesn't hurt my prospects. Furthermore, she has found that men are the best prospects for insurance sales. So far she has not written insurance for a single woman. But being a salesman and a woman is a different combination.

The work of underwriting people's futures is "stimulating and exciting" and she can't understand why more women haven't gone into the same business.

"This is a perfect business for women," she said. "It is one place they can use their natural gifts for tact and sympathy."

keeping chic is a different combination.

Saskatoon Shoppers Not Short on Beefs

SASKATOON — (CP) — Saskatoon branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers sponsored a "Bring Your Beef" tree.

The guests brought plenty. These are some of the complaints they registered about merchandise and food sold in Canada:

Men can buy two-pair socks. Why don't women buy two-pair suits? Socks are much too short to tuck in.

Cotton lace on some nylon slips takes too long to dry. Some nylon lace turns grey with washing, while the nylon slips stay white.

It's almost impossible to buy yard goods to equal the quality of fabric in better-grade, ready-made dresses.

The inside finish in men's boots is too rough, and feet get sore from standing all day. Nylon stockings should be graced in length to save time for saleswomen and handling of the stockings.

Most handkerchiefs are poorly finished, rough and splintery. Fruit packaged in cellophane spoils quickly. A special bag should be designed for carrying fish because paper parcels are inclined to drip.

Teacher-Mother Adopts Disciplined Education

NEW YORK — (AP) — A determined mother of four children who thinks progressive education is "hogwash" is busy putting her ideas into actual school practice.

With the slogan "self-expression" through self-discipline and results ranging in age from two to 12, Mrs. Isabelle P. Buckley has been quietly spreading her ideas for the last 15 years.

The tall, blonde, young-looking mother, founder and head of the Buckley Schools in California, says she is opposed to "progressive" education because "a child needs a sense of order in his world if he is to feel secure. He urgently requires a pattern for living, not only to guide him but to give him comfort and assurance. Disciplined education provides that pattern."

Expanding her theories in an interview between conferees, Mrs. Buckley compared disciplined education to the fence surrounding a child's play yard.

"It is not a barrier so much as a boundary," she maintains. "It fences—rather than confines—the child's world."

"What has come to be regarded as 'progressive education' has failed to fulfill its vital function. In an attempt to widen the child's horizon it has torn down the back yard fence. The result has been merely to deprive the child of emotional security and to dissipate his creative impulse."

When Mrs. Buckley organized her first small class of students in 1934, "discipline" was not a popular word with professional educators. "The very young."

IDEA SPREADS
Starting on a shoestring and dependent upon tuition fees for capital, her plan "grew like Topsy." Now there are three Buckley schools in greater Los Angeles; two are to be launched in Omaha, Nebraska, and Gross Pointe Park, Michigan; and other pilot schools in the planning stages for most of the principal United States cities.

Mrs. Buckley considers the desire to learn and the enjoyment of learning "the essential principles of education." This philosophy is reflected in emphasis on good manners. Visitors to the schools are sometimes startled by the politeness of the youngest pupils.

Mrs. Buckley points to art classes as an example of "self-expression through self-discipline." Before two-year-olds are turned loose with their paints and crayons, they are taught a "golden alphabet" consisting of the basic shapes and forms and given instruction in the meaning of texture and color.

Other innovations are foreign language study (French or Spanish) for all students from through 12, as insurance against juvenile insularity; thorough training in the fundamental principles of musical theory; Bible study in all grades; and prayer before class.

Older children, ages 12 to 18, receive instruction in all primary subjects, as well as public speaking, physical education, drama and dancing.

"Psychologists," she says, "have long recognized the formative years from two to six as vital to a child's future emotional and mental well-being. Yet these are to be the most wasted years of all."

Children are left largely to their own devices at home or bundled off to nursery schools and camps.

ALMOND BUTTER CHURCH

1 cup sugar
3 tbsp. water
1 tbsp. corn syrup

300 deg. F. Remove from heat. Mix in toasted almonds, saving some for top. Turn in a buttered 9 square pan. Sprinkle with almonds and mark into squares immediately. Makes 20 pieces.

WOMAN, 83, Makes First Phone Call
COLLINGWOOD, Ont. — (CP) — Mrs. Joseph McPherson, 83, received the first telephone call of her life Feb. 28. It was a call from her grandson, extending congratulations on her 83rd birthday and wishing her a happy birthday.

McPherson phoned from her home in Collingwood, where she is a telephone operator. She was surprised at the ease with which her grandson, a mother apaiser, considering she had never used a phone before.

"Sound pretty good," said Mrs. McPherson. "Seemed as if God was right in the next room."

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson were married in Slaver in 1880 but they have lived more than 50 years in Collingwood.

Canberra May Build Its Own 'Waldorf'

CANBERRA, Australia — (UP) — New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel soon may have a baby sister here in Canberra.

Owners of the famous American hotel are reported to be planning the "most luxurious hotel in Australia" for this country's capital.

Though nothing concrete yet has been announced, architects are also to build a chain of luxury hotels ready supposed to be working on the design of a proposed building to house about 200 guests.

The hotel, reports say, will in many ways resemble the Waldorf, but on a much smaller scale. American interests have been discussing for some time a proposal to build a chain of luxury hotels throughout Australia for the tourist traffic, but the main stumbling block has been lack of labor and materials.

Canada, according to the management. The screen gives a good view in side seats as in those "out centre." It will be the fourth theatre in the city under the one management.

ERECTING PRE-CAST MEMBER

The structural frame for the new Avenue Theatre was constructed of pre-cast reinforced concrete members. This new type of construction has been introduced to Edmonton by Main, Rensaa and Minsoo, Engineers and Architects. Pre-cast construction has the following advantages:

1. A considerable saving in Labor Cost.
2. SPEEDIER CONSTRUCTION in foundations, columns, and beams can be cast at the same time.
3. Form Lumber can be reduced by 75 Per Cent.
4. Scaffolding and expensive runways omitted.
5. Stronger CONCRETE with less danger of Cracking because of the better facilities for compounding and Curing.
6. Winter Construction facilitated, as erected members need no frost protection.

First Cycloramic Screen Feature Of New Theatre

Good Friday opening of the Avenue, will bring to local picture screening in Canada.

The first screening of the feature of this latest addition to the Odette Midwestern theatre chain, located at its new corner of 91 street, is the installation of Canada's first Starker Cycloramic screen.

BOON FOR SIDE SEATS

Development of the revolutionary sound screen, has eliminated the biggest bugaboo known to movie house managers: The front and side seats which practically all moviegoers shy away from.

Brainchild of one of Hollywood's top technicians, the new screen now gives the same view to 736 patrons of a packed house.

This results from the fact that light reflected from the new screen is without glare or distortion.

Exhibitors using the Starker developments are in agreement that vision from front and side seats seen to be as good as in rear or centre seats.

The Avenue has the latest theatre floor in the west.

In order to achieve this and eliminate the trials of trying to see over the tall person in front, not only has every seat been staggered, but the floor is sloped.

That is, it drops from the back of the theatre three feet down to a point two-thirds the length of the auditorium and then rises to the level again at the front.

ACCOMMODATION FOR QUEUES

Powder room will be the delight of the Avenue's female patrons.

Luxurious furniture, a long individually-mirrored make-up table and the paneled interior rivals the decor of a New York night club.

Spacious foyer will not only have a generous amount of modern sofas and easy chairs, but offers a waiting room for queues on cold or rainy nights.

Lighting and decoration throughout is ultra-modern. An emergency lighting system in the auditorium, powered by the theatre's own generator, turns on automatically should the main system fail.

Projection equipment, the equal of any on the continent, assures smooth operation and includes the latest colored lenses from England.

Architects of the gleaming white structure were Main, Resau and Minors. Contractor was Neil Bolton. Building is owned by F. F. Shacker, Mayor of Hanna who leases it to Odette Midwestern.

A Florida hurricane in 1926 took 273 lives and caused $165,000,000 damage.

Union Unity Plea To AFL Made By CIO

OTTAWA, April 6. — (UPI) — Canadian Labor leaders are warning with close interest a new attempt to bring about unity among U.S. unions.

However, spokesmen said today no concurrent proposals have been advanced in this country.

The United States move developed in the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which approached the American Federation of Labor and other bodies with a view to eventual unification.

In Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor—affiliated at CIO—has been on record for some years as favoring unity. This stand has never reached the point of proposals as specific as those made by the CIO.

The CCL is the younger of the two big congresses, with 300,000 members. The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, with 400,000 members, is the older.

President Henry Bergson of the Trades and Labor Congress, affiliated with the AFL, said steps towards unity would first have to be achieved in the U.S. before it could make headway in Canada.

COPENHAGEN.—(UPI)—What foreign experts have claimed was impossible has been done by a Danish village blacksmith: he welded broken church-bells. He is probably the only man in the world who can do so.

August Nielsen of the village of Roslev, northern Jutland, has welded some one hundred and fifty broken silver bells, and all of them turned better than before they were entirely smashed after a fall.

"The hanging, too, is very important," Nielsen told United Press. "If the bell does not hang properly, it will not ring, and if the ring is not for a long time, the bell may break and have to be welded."

Nielsen is able to weld almost anything. He has repaired a Chinese gong belonging to Denmark's queen mother, Alexandra, and has repaired a bell from Sweden and Norway from where experts have come to study Nielsen's technique.

The Australian Post Office serves the public through 10,000 offices and employs more than 80,000 persons.

One of the oldest bells Nielsen has welded is dated AD 1227. He repairs.

'Jolson Story' Sequel Film Opens New House

Opening bill at Avenue theatre at 10:30 a.m. Friday will be Edmonton premiere of "Jolson Sings Again," the sequel to "The Jolson Story."

NEW SCREEN CLOSE SHAVE

Only by a narrow shave did Edmonton come to have the first theatre in Canada to use the revolutionary Cycloramic screen.

Sam Binder, manager of the Avenue, newest movie house here, said that a screen was already installed, when a wire arrived stating the ordered Cycloramic screen would be delivered after a while.

"That was all we needed to know," said Sam. "We wait nothing but the best at the Avenue."

So now went the old and in came the new — all at the last minute.

Although the screen is not included in this case, Barbara Haver makes an admirable substitute. Under cartoonists from the first production, which this helped to succeed, are William Demarest and Bill Goodwin.

With Nielsen's own view on the sound track singing his formidable songs, top dialogue and an outstanding performance from Patsy "Jolson Sings Again" serves as the perfect film for the first night of the imposing new theatre.

The same film will run simultaneously at the Avenue's companion theatre downtown, the Rivito.

When "Jolson Sings Again" completes its run, the Avenue will show only subsequent runs at its most neighborhood theatre.

Parson-Painter Attacks Slums

SYDNEY, Australia.—(UPI)—A Methodist parson is painting a series of gruesome pictures to shock people into "doing something about the degrading squalor of Sydney slums."

Rev. George Van Eerde, a quiet-looking man with metal-rimmed glasses, has never had an art lesson. But he has already completed one slum oil painting called "The Modern Crucifixion."

It depicts a black-robed society of death hovering over Hellfire—in Sydney's old industrial section of squallid terraces and ramshackle buildings where the death rate is 44 in 1,000 a month.

Van Eerde said he painted the dead child through a littered street. Shadows cast by the mother and child form a rough crucifix on the ground.

Erde says the painting was inspired when he saw a Western mother carrying her dead child to a friend's house before the funeral. Her tiny upstairs room was too crowded, could muster only 75¢.

Follow Your Nose To Grocery Values

SYDNEY, Australia.—(UPI)—Sydney grocers are trying out "tricks" to give their shops a "pleasant buying smell."

Some of the "tricks": Grinding or percolating coffee under counters.

Heating a mixture of cinnamon and sugar on a flat pan.

Bulverizing cloves, cinnamon and other spices and placing them in bowls around the premises.

This film, which has been rivaling the record crowds of the earlier "Jolson Story," also stars Larry Parks in the title role.

JOLSON'S VOICE HEARD

Although Nielsen's voice is not included in this case, Barbara Haver makes an admirable substitute. Under cartoonists from the first production, which this helped to succeed, are William Demarest and Bill Goodwin.

With Nielsen's own view on the sound track singing his formidable songs, top dialogue and an outstanding performance from Patsy "Jolson Sings Again" serves as the perfect film for the first night of the imposing new theatre.

Smaller Vote Goes Labor

LONDON, April 6.—(UPI)—Labor yesterday won the first by-election of the new parliament, raising its precarious overall majority to four by retaining the seat at Neppard.

However, Labor's majority was reduced to 12,000 over its opponents from the winning margin of 9,000 in the Feb. 23 general election.

There were 9,444 fewer votes in the by-election than in the general election, and both sides showed a drop. Total electorate for Neppard is about 49,700.

Sir Frank Soskice, Labor candidate, polled 22,980 in the traditionally Labor constituency in the big steel city. The Conservative Liberal candidate, James P. Hunt, got 8,365, while E. L. Moore, socialist teacher running as Communist candidate, could muster only 75¢.

Vaccination Forms Asked All From U.K.

OTTAWA, April 6.—(UPI)—Health department officials have ordered that all persons coming to Canada from the United Kingdom produce certificates showing they have been vaccinated within the last three years.

Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy health minister, said.

The order came into effect because of an epidemic of smallpox was reported in Glasgow. Previously, persons from the U.K. were not required to have smallpox vaccinations.

Reason for extending the order to all persons coming from the U.K. was because of the danger of the disease spreading in the British Isles. Dr. Cameron said, "For example, passengers taking to Canada from London might stop over in Prestwick, Scotland, which is near to Glasgow, for several days."

The "blanket control" was the only effective method of protection. Dr. Cameron added that U.S. has imposed similar measures.

Effect of the ruling will be that persons coming from west coast without certificates will be held under observation for several days and then vaccinated.

There was no indication of when the restriction might be lifted.

WINE FROM SAP

Tree Climbers Losing Work In Bombay

BOMBAY.—(UPI)—Four hundred thousand Bhandaris for centuries have earned their living climbing up palm trees to tap toddy for the village drinker.

They will lose their livelihood when total prohibition is introduced in Bombay States on April 6.

The Bhandaris belong to a Hindu sect and live on India's west coast.

Known professionally as toddy-tappers the Bhandaris, slim, wiry and agile, have from ancient times followed this one calling.

On blistering hot days or in blinding rainstorms, they can be seen climbing coconut or palm trees in quest of the Indian village's nectar.

LIKE MONKEYS

With the agility of a monkey, a Bhandari can climb up the tallest palm tree in minutes.

In the small of his back, neatly encased in a coil red cloth, is a gourd, the dried rind of a pumpkin, which serves as the container for the juice he taps.

His peering from the ground over his ascent, made him a sight at amazing speed.

Tucked in his waistline is a large razor-sharp knife. You see him at the top using it with deft precision.

The fresh sap or toddy is a refreshing exhilarating drink.

Indians believe it is both "good for the soul and good for the body."

Fermented, the sap becomes a rack, an intoxicating drink, which is a prime favorite with India's rural and urban population.

Missing Link's Skull Discovered

BURBANK, Australia.—(United Press)—Burbank's Johannesburg Professor R. A. Dart claims to have discovered a prehistoric skull which links the human race with that of the ape.

Professor Dart, who is Dean of the Faculty of Medicine and Dentistry at Witwatersrand University, Johannesburg, recently returned to Brisbane for the first time since he left, in 1945, as a captain in the Australian Army medical corps.

Dart claimed that he was also the discoverer, in 1924, of the famous Taung and Nakapong fossils man-like ape remains.

He said his prehistoric skull is that of an infant Taung and that it is one million years old, filling up the gap between the most advanced apes and very primitive men.

Attar Of Roses

SOFIA.—(UPI)—Bulgaria's "Rose Valley" is making a bid to regain and improve its world fame of the fragrant Attar of Roses.

More than 200 producers of roses in this country have conferred on the enlarging and improving the rose plantings.

Producers from the famous "Rose Valley" (in Central Bulgaria between the Balkans and the Brestina Gora Mountains) and various adjacent valleys and daries, discussed measures to improve the quality of the rose plants and enlarge the area it occupies.

Outlook Not Nearly So Dark As

SASKATON, April 6.—(CP)—Railroads will remain an integral part of the Canadian economy during the next half-century, says a transportation expert.

School Festival Draws Interest During Week

Melodic strains of youthful voices echoed from Mill Creek and Forest Heights districts this week as annual music festivals held the school spotlight.

Bushes of singers from Donald Ross, McKay, Avenue, and Taylor and Forest Heights Schools were transported to Forest Heights School where some four sections of the Edmonton public school system was held on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The junior groups from grades one to four, presented songs and dances in physical education hall, while the seniors sang and danced in the gymnasium.

All Of Town's Hotels Close Up In Protest Move

MONTREAL, Que., April 6.—(CP)—All five hotels here closed today in a protest against a new liquor law which would bar women from public houses.

Meanwhile, law authorities, who acted on a petition from 11 Roman Catholic church groups, scheduled a meeting to decide what to do about transients seeking rooms in Montreal.

Action of the hotelkeepers who plan a counter petition, has cut off accommodation for travellers. All of the hotels had windows barred yesterday and signs were posted outside announcing the closure.

King Distributes Maudy Money

LONDON, April 6.—(Reuters)—The king today walked slowly down the steps of Westminster Palace, presenting to more than 100 elderly men and women long-overdue "pale pence" the royal money, distributed annually in accordance with a tradition which has its origin in the 15th century.

Queen Elizabeth, dressed in white, watched the ceremony from a box in the gallery. The king gave out the money in the name of the queen.

Mayor Is Given Confidence Vote

DUMFRIES, April 6.—(CP)—Aldermen elected a majority of 10-5 in confidence to Mayor James H. Brown, who was elected in 1954.

The two past will now be filed by a city manager. Mayor Brown said it would save the city $50,000 a year.

Saucer Theory Is Expounded

TORONTO, April 6.—(CP)—Kenneth de Courcy, president of the Intelligence League of America, thinks that the "saucer" theory should be discarded. He says that the "saucer" theory is a "hoax" and that the "saucer" theory is a "hoax" and that the "saucer" theory is a "hoax".

Industrial Men To Talk Money

LONDON, April 6.—(CP)—Representatives of leading British industrialists are meeting today in London to discuss ways and means of increasing exports to other countries.

Pension Demand Readied For GMC

OSHAWA, Ont., April 6.—(CP)—Union demands for $100 million pension spread today from Windsor to Oshawa where officials of General Motors corporation declined comment about the demand.

Dr. R. G. Small, head of the University of Saskatchewan's department of economics and political science, says:

"I don't think the picture is as black for the railways as some would paint it."

"The railway has in the foreseeable future a significant and important role in the life of Canada."

"There may be industrial areas particularly the St. Lawrence valley—where road competition may be expected to make increasing inroads into rail traffic and revenues."

"But even there the railways are likely to continue to share the bulk of the traffic with their competitors."

TRUCKS HAVE PLACE

In an interview, he said that "no matter how we predict technical changes" during the next 50 years, trucks will not replace the freight train for the long-haul haul of bulk commodities such as grain and livestock.

And although agricultural and other products between central Canada and the Maritimes, are from the north, timber from the British Columbia will probably continue to find railways the most economic and effective means of transport.

Truck lines will likely make further gains in the short-haul haul from rural centres to urban collecting points. But Dr. Small says that even where road competition threatens the railways, they are dividing the market rather than losing it.

Airlines, as a faster medium, would compete mostly in the small, point-to-point field. Dr. Small declines to make any prediction about the feasibility of "hybrid freight trains" talked of during the Second World War.

MUST KEEP AWARE

Dr. Small, who admitted Saskatchewan's brief to the royal commission on transportation, says the railway will have to be increasingly vigilant to take advantage of technological advances to offset competition.

"Even though the economy is expanding, Canada no longer is an open field in which they enjoy a virtual monopoly of transportation services over large areas. Competition will force them to improve the quality of national, provincial, and to be more prudent in their operating policies."

In addition, Dr. Small foresees that the railway's role in the next half-century will be determined to some extent by the role of their controlling body, the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The Board cannot adequately deal with transportation problems unless it is given "greater" powers to regulate competitive rates and a larger technical staff to oversee and advise the operations of the roads, he said.

SUBSIDIES SUGGESTED

There should be a uniform accounting and a cap on "continuous" expansion of railway rates, Dr. Small says, as expressed by parliament and perhaps an organization of rail highway and rail services.

Dr. Small thinks current railway subsidies are a result of the history of Canadian railroad development. The railroad link of the railway system was required to ensure a market for products manufactured in the east and to develop the west as a market.

National policy also rushed through the lines, sometimes along economic routes, to forestall a threatened economic and perhaps political crisis.

Dr. Small suggests that regional inequalities should be offset by government subsidies. It is to provide an effective franchise as a broad-based one. A "saucer" theory should be discarded.

School Clubs to Discuss Elementary School Work

OLDS, April 6.—Convention of Alberta Federation of Home and School, which will be held this year at Olds, from April 17 to 19, will discuss elementary school curriculum.

Elementary curriculum has been studied by most of the 200 individual Home and School Associations throughout the province during the past winter.

The three day program will be divided into national, provincial and local problems.

Dr. W. P. Percival, educational consultant from the provincial office, will be the main speaker at the public reception April 17. Dr. Percival is national president for the Canadian Federation of Home and School and director of provincial education for Quebec.

M. L. Watts, director of the provincial branch of the Department of Education, will be the main speaker on Provincial Day, when his topic will be "Blueprint for the Curriculum—Our Course of Studies for Tomorrow."

A panel discussion has also been arranged on parent-teacher relationships which will be conducted by Hugh Bryan, principal of Calgary's Belmont School.

A curriculum workshop, where the work of study groups will be reviewed, will also be conducted on Provincial Day when Dr. E. G. Buchanan, superintendent of the Calgary schools, will speak.

The convention will conclude on Wednesday evening, April 19, with a banquet to be addressed by Ivan Robinson, prominent Home and School member from Calgary.

Plea To Widen Divorce Law Arouses Outcry

OTTAWA, April 6.—(CP)—A private member's proposal that grounds for divorce in Canada be enlarged into an almost solid wall of opposition in the Commons.

David Croll (L-Toronto-Burlington) introduced the proposal and said enlargement of grounds for divorce would not lead to a flood of divorces. He wanted to put divorce on an honest basis.

There was no field where the law "is a greater hypocrite than in the divorce courts."

After views of members from different parts of the country were heard, Mr. Croll withdrew the proposal before the chamber adjourned at 6 p.m. until April 17 for the Easter recess.

In the first private member's resolution to come before the house since the session opened Feb. 10, Mr. Croll proposed:

That, in the opinion of the house, after full consideration should be given to the advisability of setting up a special committee of the house to consider amendments to our divorce law, and enlarging the grounds for divorce to include desertion of more than three years; strictly, invalidating the case after five years, and legal presumption of death."

The resolution was supported only by G. S. White (PC—Peterborough), who frequently has urged that something be done to free Canadian veterans from wives who refused to come to Canada with them from overseas.

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Foster

Synopsis: YOUNG ARF HAS COMMITTED AN UNPARDONABLE BLUNDER--HE HAS MENTIONED A LADY'S NAME IN A QUARREL. HE WATCHES, FASCINATED, AS TWO GENTLEMEN ARRANGE FOR EACH OTHER'S DEATH ACCORDING TO THE RULES OF CHIVALRY.

"I LIKE NEATNESS, SIR," REPEATS VAL, "AND YOUR UNTIDY HAIR ANNOYS ME."

"I DOUBT, SIR VALIANT, IF YOU ARE SUFFICIENTLY QUALIFIED TO QUESTION MY HAIRDRESSER'S ART," ANSWERS EGIL.

"IT IS A SERIOUS MATTER TO QUESTION MY GOOD TASTE, JARL EGIL!"

"YET I DO MAINTAIN MOST VIGOROUSLY, SIR VALIANT, THAT YOU ARE LACKING IN THAT STERLING VIRTUE!"

"JARL EGIL, WE HAVE ARGUED THIS POINT WITH KEEN LOGIC BUT HAVE FAILED TO REACH AN AGREEMENT. THERE REMAINS BUT ONE THING...."

"I UNDERSTAND, SIR VALIANT. THIS IS TOO IMPORTANT A MATTER TO GO UNSOLVED. A TRIAL BY ARMS IS THE SOLUTION!"

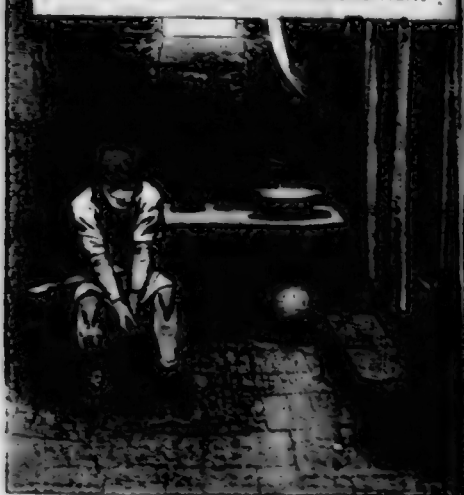

FRIENDS ARE REQUESTED TO ARRANGE TERMS FOR THE DUEL IN ALL FAIRNESS AND IN SECRECY, FOR VAL IS A KING'S SON AND EGIL BUT A MINOR PRINCELING.

VAL SEARCHES THROUGH THE ARMORY FOR A SHIELD HE CAN USE, FOR HIS NEAR-FATAL WOUND HAS LEFT HIS SHIELD ARM STIFF AND WEAK.

ARF CREEPS AWAY TO HIS ROOM, ALONE, TO PONDER THE AWFUL THING HE HAS DONE. IN HIS WILLFUL DESIRE TO DO SOMETHING BRAVE AND DRAMATIC HE HAS INVOLVED PRINCE VALIANT IN A DEADLY ENCOUNTER.

TALL EGIL RAGES SILENTLY. ALETA HAS MADE HIM FEEL LIKE A CLOD. HIS FACE WAS SLAPPED BY A LOWLY SQUIRE AND, WHILE A GUEST AT THE PALACE, HE HAS COMMITTED HIMSELF TO A DUEL WITH HIS KING'S SON...

...WHILE VAL RELAXES BY THE FIRE WITH HIS LOVELY WIFE AND PLANS THE MORROW'S DANGEROUS BUSINESS.

NEXT WEEK - The Gift of Courage.
